

WHEN TO USE PEER SUPPORT

Support in the community. PSs can attend meetings and events out in the community (e.g., Narcotics Anonymous) with the emerging adult.

When someone is ambivalent or presenting a lot of barriers to engaging in treatment, a Peer Support might be a great option because they understand the feelings associated with these challenges.

When clients feel isolated or misunderstood and need a resource that will support them in advocating for themselves and working on their goals.

As a way to bridge the gap between the clinician and the client, PSs use their empathy to help the emerging adult connect with their professional team members and resources.
